Air System: the revolutionary helmet by Docmeter

Specializing in the design, manufacturing and distribution of extreme sports protections, Docmeter company has developed an exclusive helmet concept.

The Helmeter Air System® is a revolutionary series of air cells that surround the inside liner of the helmet. The air cells can be inflated by the helmet wearer so that they have a full contact and comfort feeling with the helmet against their head. This means that the Helmeter Air System helmet provides a comfort fit for every type of head shape. It also ensures that the helmet is more stable and firm on the wearer's head.

The Helmeter Air System® has been developed over 4 years of research and collaboration between specialized doctors and engineers, and is now internationally patented.

The helmet Air System® is made up of:

- A series of air cells (or air bladders) that are located around the circumference of the inside liner to wrap completely around the head;
- The air cells are inflated to give a custom fit by an air pump which is integrated into the back the helmet; and
- A separate purge valve is pressed to release the air from the air-cells.

This system ensures you:

- a comfort fit of the helmet all around the head.
- a personalized positioning of the helmet that limits helmet movement during use.
- excellent thermal insulation.
- less helmet sizes : very interesting for rental hire companies.

The Helmeter Air System® is a helmet that better fits all different head types, and user testing has indicated the Helmeter is more comfortable than the other leading helmet brands on the market.

We offer 3 types of helmets, where the Ski, Snowboard and Full Face Helmeter helmets are already equipped of the Helmeter Air System® patented concept. You should be able to find a full range of Helmeter helmets in all shops dealing with our products (Base retail price: 78€ all taxes included).

Docmeter promises you the best protection for an optimal security in all circumstances.
